Psychoanalytic Work with Families and Couples -
Susana Kuras Mauer 2019-10-18

Psychoanalytic Work with Families and Couples rethinks the ways in which conflicts present today in psychoanalytic consulting rooms and the nature of suffering in family, couple, and sibling bonds. Based on two major concepts, that of device (drawn from the philosophers Foucault, Deleuze, and Agamben) and that of link (developed by Berenstein and Puget), the authors have developed new approaches to clinical practice with families and couples that focus on the complexity, singularity, and immanence of patient-analyst interaction in the session. In thinking about link dynamics, moreover, they go beyond the consulting room to reflect on how these dynamics develop in other spaces, such as institutions, organizations, and the fraternal circle of colleagues. Part I, Couples and Families Today, discusses changes undergone by families and couples in the last thirty years and their effects on psychoanalytic practice. Attributing a link logic to suffering and to the situations that condition it implies making significant decisions regarding our clinical strategy, our choice of a device and of an interpretive path. Faithful to the idea that the clinical dimension calls for transformations, the second part, Facing Clinical Challenges, includes clinical materials from manifold treatment devices that attest to changes both in contemporary paradigms and in the professional lives of psychoanalysts. Psychoanalytic Work with Families and Couples will be of great interest to all practicing psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists.

From Big Bang to Big Mystery - Brendan M. Purcell 2012

Everyone knows about the 'mystery' of the Big Bang - what started it? This book is about the other 'creation mystery' - where did human beings, in particular, come from? It traces the material part of our origins from the Big Bang through evolution, including the almost 7 million year hominid sequence up to the first humans in Africa over 150,000 years ago. That data doesn't seem to explain what paleontologists and archaeologists call 'the Big Bang of Human Consciousness.' In his fascinating, accessible and thorough study, renowned priest and academic Brendan Purcell shows the complementarity that scientists, theologians, and philosophers bring to a deeper understanding of the mystery of human existence and human consciousness.

Violencia y ética emocional - CASALS SANS, ANTONI 2015-01-01

Emmanuel Lévinas (1906/1995), francés de origen lituano, es un filósofo de primer orden, aunque más leído por unos que por otros debido

a la naturaleza de su teoría ética heterónoma, cuya conexión con el psiquismo humano es por virtud de la huella de la Exterioridad reflejada el rostro de la alteridad. En esta obra Violencia y ética emocional, el autor analiza pragmáticamente la causalidad de esta extraña teoría ética al tenor de los escritos de Lévinas, pero al revés, de "adentro-afuera", "interioridad-exterioridad". Por tanto, dando por supuesto que somos totalmente materia biológica para después contrastar lo que piensa Lévinas del hombre biológico y observar si hay alguna conexión ética sobrenatural con su filosofía Exterior, lo cual directamente no se observa como causa-efecto. Pero sí indirectamente al resultar im-posible su práctica con total indemnidad de los dos polos de una relación ética intercultural. Si ambas identidades de una relación han de ser respetadas por igual, la práctica deviene sumamente conflictiva, y si estamos ante la convicción de imposible perfección: ¿Por qué el ser humano tiene esta vocación interior? Si la ética puede hacer daño a quien la practica en sus diversos grados, pues va en sentido contrario al egoísmo: ¿Cómo es que la deseamos? Pero más arduo aún, quienes la deseamos, que no somos todos, si no la cumplimentamos pudiendo hacerlo también nos sentimos perjudicados por una sensación de culpabilidad psicológica, luego: ¿Es realmente la ontología fundamental? ¿Dónde está y de dónde viene la conciencia ética? Y si ésta fuere una formulación imposible, entonces: ¿Por qué la neuro-ciencia está investigándolo?; Estas cuestiones fundamentales de la teoría ética en el marco de la postmodernidad son analizadas en esta obra, junto con la propia herramienta lógica que se utiliza como necesaria en el discurso, seguido con las diversas opiniones de Gabriel Bello y su teoría sobre los juicios de valor identitarios que rechaza el binarismo positivo/negativo en la estela de la deconstrucción derridaniana. La obra finaliza con una investigación teórica sobre la diferente naturaleza de la relación no ética, subordinada al mundo de la física, del poder y de la libertad, y, de otra parte, la singular relación ética, cuya característica fundamental es que es ajena al poder, a la libertad y a la subordinación física. Un fenómeno fuera del tiempo lógico muy cercano a la curvatura del espacio intersubjetivo levinasiano.

The Routledge Handbook of Intercultural Mediation - Dominic Busch 2022-11-15

Offering unique coverage of an emerging, interdisciplinary area, this comprehensive handbook examines the theoretical underpinnings and emergent conceptions of intercultural mediation in related fields of study. Authored by global experts in fields from intercultural communication and conflict resolution to translation studies, literature, political science, and foreign language teaching, chapters trace the history, development, and present state of approaches to intercultural mediation. The sections in this volume show how the concept of intercultural mediation has been constructed among different fields and shaped by its specific applications in an open cycle of influence. The book parses different philosophical conceptions as well as pragmatic approaches, providing ample grounding in the key perspectives on this growing field of discourse. The Routledge Handbook of Intercultural Mediation is a valuable reference for graduate and postgraduate students studying mediation, conflict resolution, intercultural communication, translation, and psychology, as well as for practitioners and researchers in those fields and beyond.

Reason and Reasonableness [sic] - Riccardo Dottori 2005

This volume contains the proceedings of the Fourth Italian/American Philosophy Meeting, based on the theme "Reason and Reasonableness." The essays argue that to be reasonable no longer means to follow steady rules. Instead, it means to try to understand different point of views and widen our cultural criteria in order to find a common evaluation. Riccardo Dottori is a professor of philosophy at the University of Rome (Rome Torgate).

Amor Amicitiae - J. J. McEvoy 2004

This volume honors the Rev. Professor James McEvoy on the occasion of his sixtieth birthday. The theory of friendship, which has been one of McEvoy's major fields of research and publication, used to be at the heart of the philosophical project, and indissociable from it.

For Socrates, philosophy was possible only as the pursuit of wisdom, virtue, and beauty in a community of friends engaged in an "erotic" quest for the good. The present volume wants to make a contribution to the recovery of the friendship theme in its central importance to philosophy. It contains eighteen contributions by colleagues and pupils of Professor McEvoy from three different continents, who approach the topics of friendship, love, and charity from a variety of different angles. Several contributions are devoted to the theory of friendship in ancient and medieval thought, including its Christian appropriation. Others analyze friendship in modern and contemporary philosophy, while two contributors introduce cross-cultural perspectives (Hinduism and traditional African thought). This volume will help to throw into higher relief the importance of the philosophy of friendship, as well as stimulating further discussion on this intriguing topic.

Desire and Human Flourishing - Magdalena

Bosch 2020-07-23

This book discusses the concept of desire as a positive factor in human growth and flourishing. All human decision-making is preceded by some kind of desire, and we act upon desires by either rejecting or following them. It argues that our views on and expressions of desire in various facets of life and through time have differed according to how human beings are taught to desire. Therefore, the concept has tremendous potential to affect human beings positively and to enable personal growth. Though excellent research has been done on the concepts of flourishing, character education and positive psychology, no other work has linked the concept of desire to all of these topics. Featuring key references, explanations of central concepts, and significant practical applications of desire to various fields of human thought and action, the book will be of interest to students and researchers in the fields of positive psychology, positive education, moral philosophy, and virtue ethics.

Personalist Anthropology: A philosophical guide

to life - Juan Manuel Burgos 2022-04-05

Philosophical personalism has generated a very powerful field of study in the twentieth and twenty first centuries but has not produced a systematic exposition. This book fills this big gap by offering for the first time a full systematic personalistic vision of the human person. This ambitious volume offers a pedagogical and integrated exposition of philosophical personalism, answering vital questions about human identity and existence in a way that the reader (or student) can achieve an integrated view of the person. The book points to the real life of each person so that, by partially unraveling the mystery of the personal being, it becomes a philosophical guide for life. For these reasons, the book can be used both for academic purposes, as a manual of philosophy of man or for personal enlightenment. Divided in five parts, the first part of the book works as an introduction, offering an overview of the human person and of the notion of person. The second part describes the internal structure of the human being addressing topics as corporeity as a personal fact; sensibility and the senses; affectivity; intelligence; freedom understood as choice and self-determination and, finally, the personal self. The third part analyses the person in action and some special types of action such as work and language. The fourth part deals with interpersonal relationships beginning with I-You relationship (friendship, love) and following with the family and the social structure. Finally, part five deals with the so-called ultimate questions, that is, those that decide the final meaning of each person's life, namely, time, death, immortality, and religion.

Methodologies in Peace Psychology - Diane Bretherton 2015-09-03

This volume looks at research methods through the lens of peace studies and peace values. Apart from reviewing established methods from peace psychology, it presents some innovative ideas for conducting research in the area of peace psychology. Many of these methods are drawn from the field, from activities used by active peace practitioners. A critical component of this volume is its core argument that peace research should be conducted by peaceful means, and should model peaceful processes. Organized thematically, the volume begins with a review of the established best practices in peace psychology research methodology, including methods for qualitative research, for quantitative research, and participative action networks. In doing so, it also points to some of the limitations of working for peace within the tradition of a single discipline and to the need to expand psychology methodology, to methodologies. Therefore, the second half of the volume proceeds to explore the realm of innovative, relatively unorthodox research methods, such as participatory and workshop methods, the creative arts, and sports for research purposes. The use of new advances in information technology to conduct peaceful research are also discussed. The concluding chapters synthesize key issues from the previous chapters, and links peace psychology with ideas and implementation of research designs and practices. Finally, it discusses the nature of academic knowledge, and more specifically, academic knowledge in peace psychology, and where that fits into the mission to build a more peaceful world. Overall this book aims to provide peace psychologists with an array of possibilities and best practices for approaching their research. Many researchers find the experience of doing research a somewhat lonely, if not isolating, experience. Methodologies in Peace Psychology: Peace Research by Peaceful Means aims to alleviate this feeling as the use of these more innovative methods leads to a closer engagement with the community and a much more social experience of research. This volume is a useful tool for both new and experienced researchers because it provides leads for idealistic young researchers who want their work to make a difference, in addition to encouraging more reflection and analysis for experienced peace psychologists.

The International Handbook of Teacher Ethos - Fritz Oser 2021-08-05

This volume is the first handbook that brings together cutting-edge international research on teacher ethos from a broad array of disciplines. The main focus will be on research that illustrates current conceptualizations of ethos and its importance for acting effectively and responsibly in and out of the classroom. Research will encompass updated empirical and philosophical work that points to the difference in learning when teaching is practised as a moral activity instead of a merely functional one. Authors are among the world's foremost researchers whose work crosses over from moral education into psychology, neuroscience, sociology, philosophy, pedagogy, and curriculum, drawing on these various fields of research. Today, more than ever, we understand that teachers, like other professionals, need more than subject-matter expertise for acting responsibly and doing their best in their daily duties. Doing so requires possessing a guiding system of professional ethics, moral positioning, goals, norms, and values - in other words: a professional ethos. While the handbook concentrates on Western domains in the current era, the work will extend to other cultures and times as well. With this comprehensive range of perspectives, the book will be attractive and useful for researchers on teachers and teaching as well as for teacher educators, curriculum designers, educational officials, and, last-but-not-least, anyone who is interested in what makes a good teacher. This volume is also a tribute to Fritz Oser, a leading scholar in research on ethos, who sadly passed-away during the compilation of this handbook.

Ética e infinito - Emmanuel Lévinas 2015-09-21

"Ética e infinito" recoge las conversaciones mantenidas entre Emmanuel Lévinas y Philippe Nemo, a través de las cuales podemos tener una idea resumida pero muy completa del pensamiento del filósofo. La edición se acompaña con una introducción y abundantes notas de Jesús María Ayuso Díez, traductor del texto. Me pregunto si se puede hablar de una mirada vuelta hacia el rostro, pues la mirada es conocimiento, percepción. Pienso, más bien, que el acceso al rostro es de entrada ético. Cuando usted ve una nariz, unos ojos, una frente, un mentón, y puede usted describirlos, entonces usted se vuelve hacia el otro como hacia un objeto. ¡La mejor manera de encontrar al otro es la de ni siquiera darse cuenta del color de sus ojos! Cuando observamos el color de los ojos, no estamos en relación social con el otro. Cierto es que la relación con el rostro puede estar dominada por la percepción, pero lo que es específicamente rostro resulta ser aquello que no se reduce a ella. Ante todo, hay la derechura misma del rostro, su exposición derecha, sin defensa. La piel del rostro es la que se mantiene más desnuda, más desprotegida. La más desnuda, aunque con una desnudez decente. La más desprotegida también: hay en el rostro una pobreza esencial. Prueba de ello es que intentamos enmascarar esa pobreza dándonos poses, conteniéndonos. El rostro está expuesto, amenazado, como invitándonos a un acto de violencia. Al mismo tiempo, el rostro es lo que nos prohíbe matar.

Emmanuel Lévinas - Andrés Alonso Martos

2011-11-28

El novembre de 2006, celebrant el centenari del seu naixement, va tenir lloc el congrés internacional: Lévinas, la Filosofia como Ética. Organitzat conjuntament pel MUVIM i la Universitat de València, aquest volum recull les actes d'aquesta trobada acadèmica. Un recorregut a través del pensament de Lévinas: la seua posició dins i fora de la filosofia, la torsió del concepte tradicional d'ètica o de llenguatge, la convergència o divergència de l'ètica i la política, i també les arrels jueves del seu pensament. Hi ha un cert risc en la celebració del congrés; són escassos els investigadors que estudien aquest filòsof, fet pel qual reunir-los pràcticament a tots en un congrés constitueix un esdeveniment en els estudis sobre Lévinas, alhora que un llibre que continga les conferències d'aquest acte esdevé una fita filosòfica en llengua castellana.

A possibilidade da aplicação ética e política: na perspectiva da noção de terceiro em

Emmanuel Levinas - Marcos Aurélio Costa da Silva 2022-05-14

A filosofia de Emmanuel Levinas possui um primado essencialmente ético voltado para uma relação de alteridade na qual o mesmo está à mercê do outro. Tudo se baseia numa dinâmica de responsabilidade: “sou responsável pelo outro”. A alteridade, dessa forma, não deve ser confundida com uma passividade ou um objeto a ser desejado e possuído. O Eu, assim como o outro, é alguém que porta um rosto e com quem é possível manter encontros, isto ocorre no que Levinas chamará de “face-a-face”. Tal encontro impede o eu de reduzir o outro à coisa, na medida em que se trata aqui de uma relação de significância, de constante produção de sentido, pois o humano nunca é um dado acabado. Dessa forma, o “rosto” não pode ser considerado como uma característica estética, mas é a própria metáfora da relação de alteridade ética interminável. É expressão do infinito ético, e assim, a responsabilidade se converte em acolhimento. Nestes termos, o filósofo lituano rompe com toda uma tradição filosófica ao problematizar de forma crítica as noções de desejo, totalidade, ontologia, etc. Tais conceitos se contrapõem a noção de infinito ético. A relação ética, em Levinas, não pode permanecer binária, entre o eu e o outro, mas necessita ser sopesada pela vinda do diferente. Este elemento seria o Terceiro: o estrangeiro, o refugiado, aquele que permanece distante. Com ele é possível pensar em verdadeiras relações políticas na proporção em que sua diferença chega clamando justiça com o intuito de também pertencer à relação ética. O terceiro, assim, traz equidade para as relações em sociedade. A vida em comunidade requer que sejam observados os diferentes, para que a mesmidade não prevaleça e daí a dimensão antropológica: o humano constituído como ser aberto à relação de alteridade. Ainda é preciso ir além, há possibilidade de uma aplicação ética e política na comunidade instituída a partir da justiça pois, precisa de artifícios que possam garantir o direito do Outro. Para tanto, o Estado possui a função de mediador social e se apresenta como Eleidade, um aspecto do Terceiro capaz de garantir a relação justa entre o Eu, o Outro e o Terceiro. A Eleidade existe para que a mesmidade não se repita e não se reduza o outro a um corpo matável, dispensável. Por demandas concretas advindas da fome, exploração, preconceitos é que a justiça do Terceiro nasce. No entanto, o Eu nunca existiu nem existirá numa independência absoluta de autonomia total. O sujeito é histórico e social nasce sempre numa relação plural. É a alteridade que possibilita a constituição do Eu. Se o Outro não existisse, o Eu perderia a condição de possibilidade de seu existir enquanto sujeito histórico. A ética é vista, então, como a dimensão capaz de reestruturar as relações humanas a partir do respeito pela alteridade de cada membro da relação. A ética moderna da autonomia fecha as portas para a alteridade. Por fim, A política “acontece” com a chegada do Terceiro, sobre os parâmetros que dizem respeito à organização da Pluralidade humana. A justiça acontece com a necessidade de comparar o Outro ao Terceiro. O encontro tem sentido como realização da Justiça. A significância que motiva o agir ético não está mais polarizado no ser, mas no movimento do que vai em direção ao Outro para instaurar a paz e a justiça. Para Levinas esta seria a fonte de legitimidade do Estado; e se o Estado não cumprisse esta vocação, se não permitisse as relações interpessoais ou ocupasse o lugar delas ele seria ilegítimo. A política é o momento em que o Eu se abre à alteridade do outro, ficando em alerta da responsabilidade pelo Outro na relação do face a face.

International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Social (In)Justice - Ira Bogotch
2013-11-11

The International Handbook on Educational Leadership and Social (In)Justice creates a first-of-its-kind international forum on conceptualizing the meanings of social justice and leadership, research approaches in studying social justice and combating social injustices, school, university and teacher leadership for social justice, advocacy and advocates for social justice, socio-cultural representations of social injustices, glocal policies, and leadership development as interventions. The Handbook is as much forward-looking as it is a retrospective review of educational research literatures on social justice from a variety of educational subfields including educational leadership, higher education academic networks, special education, health education, teacher education, professional development, policy analyses, and multicultural education. The Handbook celebrates the promises of social justice while providing the educational leadership research community with concrete, contextualized illustrations on how to address inequities and combat social, political and economic injustices through the processes of education in societies and educational institutions around the world.

Marketing Peace for Social Transformation and Global Prosperity - Nedelea, Alexandru-

Mircea 2018-12-07

War and conflict continually plague many nations around the world and have led to mass causalities, a shortage of resources, and political turmoil. To eradicate this ongoing issue, individuals, companies, and governments need to establish a fundamental change in the distribution of the world's assets, resources, and ideals. Marketing Peace for Social Transformation and Global Prosperity is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the development of programs and campaigns destined to impose and sustain ideas that lead to conflict resolution. Through analyzing and proposing various peace marketing campaigns, it showcases how individuals and corporations can employ various tactics to enhance and achieve political, social, and individual peace and promote the sustainability of resources and education. Highlighting topics such as civic engagement, conflict management, and symbolism, this book is ideally designed for policymakers, business leaders, professionals, theorists, researchers, and students.

The book discusses how the two interrelated questions of biopolitics and ethics influence discursive and non-discursive practices in the fields of international relations and strategic studies. The book debates the following research question of how discussions on global regimes that rule human empowerment and human fragility in international and strategic arenas require the establishment of a complex relation between the contested concepts of biopolitics and ethics. The book focuses on six main areas which are (1) the politics of (in)security, (2) complex emergencies and contemporary terrorism, (3) health, risk and population management, (4) environment and climate change, (5) the politics of memory and trauma and (6) migration and refugee flows. The usefulness of the book derives from critically questioning how, international public policies in sensitive areas like terrorism, global health, global migration flows or humanitarian assistance are being built through global policy regimes and global discursive regimes.

Identidade Vs Alteridade - Jacilene Silva

O texto gravita em torno do conceito de identidade e da reconfiguração de seu sentido ético entre nós. A partir de questões próprias do pensamento de Emmanuel Levinas, principalmente as que se referem à crítica da totalidade e aos mecanismos que a partir desta incidem sobre os indivíduos fazendo-os desempenhar papéis em que esses já não mais se encontram, pretendemos reavaliar a própria noção de identidade, repensando seu lugar numa sociedade que a luz dos Direitos Humanos se pretende livre de toda sorte de categorizações. Cientes que a noção de substância humana se desagrega diante das produções filosóficas iniciadas já no final do século XIX e início do século XX e que dentro de uma discussão social e política toda noção de uma qualidade inata da alma é um risco, resolvemos aqui pensar sobre nós mesmos projetando novas possibilidades argumentativas. Nisso ergue-se a questão: frente às lutas sociais por direitos, destacando-se as que tratam de temas raciais, sexuais e de gênero, em que a busca por espaço e o ultrapassar de forças opressoras se confunde à demarcação das identidades, não se estaria, na contramão, reforçando ideias substancialistas que seriam apenas o outro lado de uma mesma moeda ideológica? Para tal trataremos de tencionar conceitualmente os seguintes conceitos: totalidade/identidade, e infinito/alteridade, ética e críticas aos mecanismos teóricos que defendiam um paradigma de humanidade baseado numa ideia de liberdade absoluta.

Whose Story? Translating the Verbal and the Visual in Literature for Young Readers - Riitta Oittinen 2009-03-26

This book is based on the discussions carried out in two seminars on the translation of children's literature, coordinated by Maria González Davies and led by Riitta Oittinen. The main focus finally revolved around four questions: a) Tackling the challenges posed by translating children's literature, both picturebooks and books with illustrations, and the range of strategies available to solve specific issues; b) the special characteristics involved in reading aloud, its emotional dimension, and the sphere it occupies between private and public reading; c) the interpretation and manipulation of child images; and, d) the role of the translator, publishers and mediators as active or passive agents whose decisions may finally mirror the images projected by the authors of the source books. This volume is also professionally-oriented and presents examples that underline the interaction between theory and practice. The topics range from Bible translation, to translating the classics, such as Beatrix Potter's tales and fairytales, fantasy worlds for young adults as depicted in Tolkien's The Lord of the Rings, or novels such as those by Christine Nöstlinger, as well as stories with a psychological and social function such as the African war tales. Finally, it includes didactic applications that help enhance an awareness of the issues involved.
