Even the person sitting next to us on the bus has the ability to make us feel significant, or, like we don't matter at all. Regardless of how we may try to wiggle around it, while the ultimate goal of your communication may be to inform or express, you are never going to succeed at doing so if the person you are talking to feels you have no value for him or her. If you think about it, your reaction is, no doubt, the same. After that "important person" greeted you and got up to give his speech or sermon, did you want to listen to it? Every (good) speaker knows that the best delivery is one that makes each person in the audience feel every word was just for him or her. If the speaker bombed out when speaking to you one-on-one, chances are his speech was a bomb in your book as well. Why? You did not feel significant. You didn't matter to him and therefore, his matters don't matter to you either. In the art of effective conversation as well as public speaking, it is imperative to take an interest in the person or persons you are talking to. Know what they like and what they don't like. Learn what interests them. Above all, don't ask about their wife and kids if they don't have any. Do your homework and you'll ace the test! When you are uptight about speaking, be it publicly or privately, people sense your fear. While you work on getting over your anxiety of talking through measures taken in this book, you can fake it until you make it. If this sounds like you, then keep reading! No matter what anyone says, good communication as a skill is difficult to learn - and seems impossible to master. To even begin, you need to have the right attitude and approach - something you wouldn't have without the right tools. Being told to simply "talk" can seem easier said than done, because not everyone is born that way. Some people are born with the natural charisma and skills to hold a conversation with anyone, and some people aren't. However, that doesn't mean you can't learn! If you're not given the right tools to learn any skill, you'll be hard-pressed to figure it out on your own. Why would you? You wouldn't learn blacksmithing without a forge, you wouldn't learn to tailor clothes without being taught to sew - how is this any different? It may not be difficult to speak to someone, but the difference between simply speaking and being able to actually "talk" is leagues between them. It's the body language, it's knowing how to approach topics, it's knowing which topics to cover and why your conversations have felt so flat in the past. Without all of these 'moving pieces' of conversation, it's impossible... but that's why we ask for help. In this book, you'll learn the following: How to speak to anyone with the same confidence as an expert; The differences between small talk, and a full-on conversation; Dumb small talk mistakes that are all-too easy to make as a beginner; Conversation non-starters, and other topics to avoid; How to recognize where your small talk skills need work, and how to address them; 5 powerful, unusual small talk tips that work every single time; How to fake it till you make it- being confident even when you really aren't; AND SO MUCH MORE! This book aims to give you the power to hold a conversation with anyone - to see where you've been going wrong, and correct mistakes you may not have realized you were making in the first place. Without help, or a guiding hand, how would anyone learn anything? Everyone has to start somewhere! It doesn't matter where in your journey you are, or how long it took you to get here - wanting it enough can be the first step to mastering it. If you're tired of struggling, and you're ready to really learn how easy conversations and small talk can be, then this book was written for you! How to Make People Like You in 90 Seconds or Less - Nicholas Boothman 2008-07-02

Whether selling, managing, negotiating, planning, collaborating, pitching, instructing-or on your knees with a marriage proposal-the secret of success is based on connecting with other people. Now that connection is infinitely easier to make through Nicholas Boothman's program of rapport by design. How to Make People Like You in 90 Seconds or Less is the work of a master of Neuro-Linguistic Programming whose career is teaching corporations and groups the secrets of successful face-to-face communication. Aimed at establishing rapport-that stage between meeting and communicating-How to Make People Like You focuses on the concept of synchrony. It shows how to synchronize attitude, synchronize body language, and synchronize voice tone so that you instantly and imperceptibly become someone the other person likes. Reinforcing these easy-to-learn skills is knowing how to read the other person's sensory preferences-most of us are visual, some are kinesthetic, and a minority are auditory. So when you say "I see what you mean" to a visual person, you're really speaking his language. Along the way the book covers attitude, nervousness, words that open a conversation and words that shut it down, compliments, eye cues, the magic of opposites attracting, and more. Beyond the Rails II - Jack Tyler 2015-03-16

British East Africa in the 1880s. A place of mystery, intrigue, and danger. Powerful tribes, many hostile, the descendants of once-great empires, rule the plains and forests. European colonial powers jostle for advantage as they struggle to push inland from their coastal enclaves. A rail line is being driven from Mombasa toward Lake Victoria, drawing laborers and speculators from every civilized continent. The rails have reached Nairobi, a still-tiny boom town where wealthy entrepreneurs rub shoulders with cutthroats and railroad workers, but to reach out further, one must travel by foot or wagon, or by one of the ramshackle airships that connect the scattered settlements. One such ship is Kestrel, once a steam powered river lighter designed to haul cargos up the shallow streams that reach inland from the coast. Rescued from the scrapyard and slung beneath a balloon, she has been given a second chance at life as a carrier in the aerial cargo trade. Business is good in the booming colony, but in every pub and hostel, at the end of every pier, in the alley behind each tavern lurk dangerous men (and women!) of questionable motives, each with his own scheme to claim his share of the colony's wealth, by whatever means come readily to hand. No one completely escapes brushes with these charlatans, and Captain Clinton Monroe's crew is no exception. Join them aboard the Kestrel as they sail the skies to high adventure.

The Art of Dealing With People - Les Giblin 2001-01-01

What is the one quality that all successful people have in common? They have mastered the art of dealing with people! Let this book show you how to: Achieve your goals Handle the human ego Become a master conversationalist Make others feel good about themselves And much more! Skill with people is the one essential ingredient for success and happiness at home and in business. "The Art of Dealing With People" gives you the skills to take your people skills to a level that you never thought possible! Skill in human relations is similar to skill in any other field, in that success depends on understanding and mastering certain basic general principles. You must not only know what to do, but why you're doing it. As far as basic principles are concerned, people are all the same. Yet each individual person you meet is different. If you attempted to learn some gimmick to deal successfully with each separate individual you met, you would be face with a hopeless task. Influencing people is an art, not a gimmick. When you apply gimmicks in a superficial, mechanical manner, you go through the same motions as the person who "has a way," but it doesn't work for you. The purpose of this book is to give you knowledge based upon an understanding of human nature: why people act the way they do. The methods presented in this book have been tested on thousands of people who have attended my human relations seminars. They are not just my pet ideas of how you should deal with people, but ideas that have stood the test of how you must deal with people. That is, if you want to get along with them and get what you want at the same time. Yes, we all want success and happiness. And the day is long past, if it ever existed, when you could achieve these goals by forcing people to give you what you want. And begging is no better, for no one has respect for, or any desire to help, the person who constantly kowtows and literally goes around with his hand out, begging other people to like him. The one successful way to get the things you want from life is to acquire skill in dealing with people. Download now and you will learn how.

So Many Beginnings: A Little Women Remix - Bethany C. Morrow 2021-09-07

Four young Black sisters come of age during the American Civil War in So Many Beginnings, a warm and powerful YA remix of the classic novel Little Women, by national bestselling author Bethany C. Morrow. North Carolina, 1863. As the American Civil War rages on, the Freedpeople's Colony of Roanoke Island is blossoming, a haven for the recently emancipated. Black people have begun building a community of their own, a refuge from the shadow of the "old life." It is where the March family has finally been able to safely put down roots with four young daughters: Meg, a teacher who longs to find love and start a family of her own. Jo, a writer whose words are too powerful to be contained. Beth, a talented seamstress searching for a higher purpose. Amy, a dancer eager to explore life outside her family's home. As the four March sisters come into their own as independent young women, they will face first love, health struggles, heartbreak, and new horizons. But they will face it all together. Praise for So Many Beginnings: A Little Women Remix "Morrow's ability to take the lingering stain of slavery on American history and use it as a catalyst for unbreakable love and resilience is flawless. That she has remixed a canonical text to do so only further illuminates the need to critically question who holds the pen in telling our nation's story." —Booklist, starred review "Bethany C. Morrow's prose is a sharpened blade in a practiced hand, cutting to the core of our nation's history. ... A devastatingly precise reimagining and a joyful celebration of sisterhood. A narrative about four young women who unreservedly deserve the world, and a balm for wounds to Black lives and liberty." —Tracy Deonn, New York Times-bestselling author of Legendborn "A tender and beautiful retelling that will make you fall in love with the foursome all over again." —Tiffany D. Jackson, New York Times-bestselling author of White Smoke and Grown
