Celia Planted a Garden - Phyllis Root 2022-05-17

From an all-star team comes a lyrical picture-book biography about a writer and master gardener who created beauty in a harsh island habitat that was visited by literary and artistic luminaries of her time. Celia Thaxter grew up on a desolate island off the coast of Maine, where her father worked as lighthouse keeper. Amid the white and gray of the sea, the rocks, and even the birds, young Celia found color where she could: green mosses and purple starfish and pink morning glories by the shore. And she planted her first garden, tucking bright marigolds between rocky ledges. When she was twelve, Celia's family moved to nearby Appledore Island, where her father built a large hotel, and Celia planted a bigger, ever-growing garden with nearly sixty types of flowers, from asters to wisteria. Guests flocked to the hotel from around the world, among them such writers as Longfellow, Whittier, and Hawthorne. Celia had been writing poems about the island, her garden, and the sea, and they would be printed in magazines and books, making her a foremother of writing about nature. Now, for the first time, Celia Planted a Garden showcases her life and work, in a poetic, vividly imagined picture book from a team of two authors and an illustrator, each recipients of numerous awards. More about Celia Thaxter, including a rich time line and bibliography, awaits readers in the back matter.

"Uncle Spuzz here, reporting from the swamp just north of Sandy Point. I seemed to have stumbled on a most spectacular event. A flock of yellow ducks has just storm-rushed the swamp. Hold on... perhaps this bystander has some information. Ah hello, excuse me, sir. Uncle Spuzz here, with the Swamp News Network. Those ducks seem to be in a frenzy, chanting something, about flipping, flapping, and flying. Would you care to comment?" "Yes, Hello, Sure. This is Mother's and my flock embarking on their first attempt at flight. They're chanting 'Flip, Flap, and Fly' to keep them on track." "So very interesting and WOW! can they fly, but wait, there seems to be some commotion coming from over behind that stand of swamp grass. I can just barely make it out. It appears to be a blue duck...Yes, a blue duck frantically flapping his wings, blue feathers everywhere. Excuse me, sir, can you tell our audience is that blue duck part of this first frenzy of flight?" He sure is, that's our Duck 31. Looks like it may take him a little while longer to figure out this new adventure.

Sometimes a natural-born flier mistakenly thinks that they know more than what they actually know. Did you know that?" "Hmmm, I did not know that. So there you have it folks Uncle Spuzz signing off for the Swamp News Network. Be sure to discover what happens next for Duck 31 in his newest adventure 'Flip, Flap, & Fly' "
